Dr. Lancaster's Article Continued.

Perhaps you say sell the crop and redeem with the price of it. Yes, but suppose it is corn, and you have left it one year. You left the corn, but what is left to you? Weavils and shucks. How can you redeem with the price thereof? Suppose you were not in debt and have the treasury notes to redeem with, what do you do? You are out the interest on the money you have been holding. Your grain has deteriorated more than 20 per cent., so you give back more than the 80 per cent. and get back less than 80 per cent of what you deposited. Now don't say you held in bond for better price; you could hold out of bond just as well, and save interest, save insurance, save warehouse charges and save the surplus that section 9 provides to go into the U. S. Treasury.

Now let me ask is it worth paper to show such a false construction as this sub-treasury? We have only touched section 2 in our criticisms.

In life insurance you must die to win. In this sub-treasury business the only possible chance we see to gain anything is to move. If you live in Texas and deposit here and move to Georgia, you might draw out of a sub-treasury there, as provided for in section 9; thereby offset your loss by saving freight. We dismiss the sub-treasury by saying that if you shake it much we fear it will explode and kill us and all in reach. Does it need any further comments? Is it not the worst form of class legislation, which we claim to be the very foundation of our existing troubles? We think we can do nothing more to defeat such a measure than to ask every voter to study it until he knows it. It won't bear acquaintance. We don't see how any reasonable mind can endorse it. Though Mr. Pieler does not claim to have presented it by request.

What other proposition offered by this party stands as well as this? None. We are never in favor of a fiat money issue, still less that direct from government to people. Such a proposition savors of no good to anyone.

This land loan proposition secured by a mortgage on land won't do. That is just what is the matter now; too many mortgages. That settles the Stanford bill. If any one will lift these mortgages, we won't care so much what goes on at the White House. We can then stand them better. Still there is Coxey, Brown and Christopher Columbus Jones with their armies at Washington, and Kelly trying to obtain shipping into Ethiopia? We hope so. And there it Freye with his army too. What shall we do with them? Good God how the pages loom up before us. What will it take to dispose of them? We mean Freye and Kelly. The others we suppose are serving out their sentence and abusing the judge. As to Brown, we would suggest that he take one of the rich ladies who made him head, that is if they will take him, and let him quit tramping and begging, but to take care and don't step on the grass, Brown. As to Mr. Coxey, a man of intellect, of some means, a business of his own sufficient to justify the application of his abilities and energies to protect. Is he really so Jackson like, so Christ like, so philanthropic, so patriotic? Is he such a freedom lover, such a money hater, such a poor man's friend as to forsake his every financial interest and leave his home and horses; throw aside every personal interest and care and camp there, if it takes all summer, with his living petition in the endeavor to coerce legislation, the very worst form of class legislation and ask congress to issue a fiat money of $500,000,000 and deal out $20,000,000 monthly to every state of this union, and demanding the demonetization of both gold and silver. Give us a rest. Is he a fanatic, or is there a subsidy back of, and just under all this with a pinch bar, (a gold one, too) shoving all this along? We surmise this is the key note, for me thinks we can hear the clink of the gold bar already.

We believe these leaders have some honest, conscientious followers, men who think they are enlisted in a good work and the cause of freedom. We have a more profound respect for their intentions and zeal than for their sagacity. We sincerely suspect a bug under the chip. That Messrs. Coxey, Brown, Jones, Freye, Kelly, et al. will take tin like a Jew, and that they are getting a handsome tip for this bit of work.

The schemes of capital, money, gold money and protected interests are deeply and secretly laid, and who will say that these common weal Generals are not the paid instruments or agents of tariff protected interests and gold standard adherents. The whole thing smacks of monied corporations, dominated legislation, personal protected interest to us. It is but one more feather added to the load on the camel's back coercing acquiescence.

What instituted grangerism, and duped a great many people without resulting good or gain to any honest granger? What instituted the Alliance order, with deceptive intent and purpose fraught with good to no alliance member? Are not the populists or people's party an offspring of alliance? One sub-merged into the other. Are they not of a common parentage? Where is the peace of their birth, their nativity? Is it south of Masons and Dixon's line?

What withdrew the circulating medium from the country and secreted it in national bank vaults etc., even to the shipping of much gold abroad, for the purpose of compelling an appropriation of a money shortage, a coercion as it were, into a realization that some thing was radically wrong, and that at a time when every advantage was pregnant of the conviction of chargeability to the democratic administration. Then what inaugurated this great march on Washington? We say co-operative scheming capital manipulated by the republican party for the purpose of dividing the strongholds of the democratic party and perpetuating itself.

We admonish. Remove! Our remedy is reverse things. Remove the cause. Yours truly, W. H. LANCASTER, M. D.

VALLEY VIEW FARM.

EDITOR GAZETTE: The local happenings at Valley View this week are like angel visits, very few and far between.

We had fine rains last Monday, and crops, good ones too, are an assured thing. Cotton is as fine as anyone with good common sense could wish. Cane, oats, rye, pumpkins, water melons and musk mellons are all that could be wished for. Cotton on the Farm last week by actual measurement grew five inches in six days. None in this part of the Rural Vineyard have any fear of a short crop in any sense of the word.

Fishing parties at the Farm this week have been quite numerous, but owing to such busy times, your correspondent could not ascertain any of their names, just saw them pass by and 'cussed' the luck because he could not go along.

The V. V. F. Pleasure Seekers Association had a pleasant hop at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. J. Fox last Saturday night and all enjoyed it very much; and we also return thanks to William Miller and family and Joseph Raas for that old fashioned hospitality and a keg of City beer last Sunday evening.

The ball at the Lone Star Hall Saturday night was all that the committee could wish for. The Shiner Firemen's Band turned their volutes loose, as the cowboys say, and showed the people what they could do.

The grand jury of DeWitt county must be stuck on our good looking boys up here; they are always sending after them. Well, that's all right boys, it's a duty you owe your country and the government that protects your homes and friends.

Weather still continues to be fair and lovely. Good spirits reigns supreme everywhere, so as I am in a great hurry I will close, and as Jake, of Dilworth, says, I will jog on as the old BACHELOR.

Until otherwise ordered, commencing Saturday and Sunday, June 2nd and 3rd, the S. A. & A. P. Ry will sell round trip tickets from Shiner to Corpus Christi, Rockport, Aransas Pass and Portland at $3.25. This rate is to be used every Saturday and Sunday, tickets to be limited to four days from date of sale. These tickets are not good to stop over enroute, nor will they be honored for return passage short of their destination. The return portion must be stamped and signed by the agent at destination before it will be honored for return trip; and under no circumstances will the limit on same be extended.
